

One of the significant initiatives the Egyptian government has adopted is The National Museum of Egyptian Civilization.

It is one of the largest international museums, the world's largest museum devoted to a single civilization, and the only museum of its sort in Egypt, the Arab world, the Middle East, and Africa.

- The National Museum of Egyptian Civilization houses what ?

In the 50,000 artifacts on display at the museum, which opened in 2021, Egyptian Civilization is shown from prehistoric periods to the present. The collection is split into two distinct zones, one chronological that includes archaic, pharaonic, Greco-roman, Coptic, mediaeval, Islamic, and modern art.

The Museum of Egyptian Civilization has all the evidence of the wealth and diversity that the Egyptian culture had throughout the ages, from the prehistoric to the modern, and it will have extremely rare monuments on its flanks.

We are achieving one of the museum's most important goals, which is fostering communication between visitors and laying out the meanings of Egyptian civilization, as represented by what can be added to the museum's elements such as centers for industries, handicrafts, and traditional arts, as well as exhibitions in which the results of these industries, crafts, and arts are showcased.

Additionally, The Egyptian Civilization Museum enables visitors to have a deeper understanding of Egyptian civilization and the civilizations, sciences, principles, and arts that it has preserved over the centuries
